“ Today my precious Grandma went to be with Jesus. There have been so many tears this week, but each one represents a beautiful memory that we now have of Grandma.

It's amazing to think about how one single person can have such an impact on your life. I felt that this week when I was standing in a hospital room with my family. Grandma taught me to appreciate the little things in life. From watching reruns of The Waltons, to caring for plants, or having a simple phone call to someone dear to you. She loved her family so much and it showed every time we were together. Though it was late, I am so blessed we were able to spend Christmas in January with the entire family just a few weeks ago.

As I got older, I really learned to cherish listening to the stories I heard about her growing up on the farm, working in the greenhouse, and raising her children. From her stories, I learned that the small gestures and relationships you make go a long way. People will always remember how you treat them.

I know I will always appreciate her and her small gestures. I will miss my birthday cards each year. My texts I would get saying to have a great day and pictures of her flowers around the house. And, of course, so much more.

I cried happy tears as I found peace in knowing that she will be in Heaven holding Jesus' hand. However, there were many sad tears knowing that I am losing my precious Grandma. God undoubtedly blessed us giving us such a wonderful, loving Grandma. I can't thank Him more.

Grandma, I will miss you with my whole heart. Thank you for teaching me everything you did. I hope to continue to make you proud and will make sure to carry on your chicken n dumplin recipe. Love you endlessly

“ Betty, I will miss you dearly.....such a sweet dear lady. I remember some of our chats....always your voice was so calming & soothing and your stories were well worth listening too. You were a wonderful Mother and a expert home maker...most of all you were a caring compassionate friend to all those who were in need. I will always think of you as "Fair and Full of Grace" and that is just what you were to me. Blessings to your family, you have left them with a world of your teachings..... Prayers and my Condolences for all.

“ Growing up next door to Ms Betty, I have so many memories that it's tough to choose. I spent most of my afternoons after school at her house playing games, shooting hoops, playing kickball, and learning about life. She always took the time to teach us all and was a great example. I can remember one time, in particular, that she took the time to teach me. We had a rare week of snow and her son Robert had worked so hard to build a great snowman. Meanwhile, being the knucklehead neighbors, my buddy and I decided it would be fun to knock it over. Well, of course, it was obvious that it was us. Ms. Betty asked us to come over. Oh boy, we knew that we were busted and in for it good. Instead of yelling at us, she took the time to teach us WHY it was wrong. She held us accountable and I always remembered her approach during that situation. I always try to reflect that spirit today. Ms Betty will be missed by everyone that she encountered and definitely by me.
