Comments

“ As I was a child growing up with Danny the thing I remember most was his smile. It was a smile that had a hint of snicker so you never really knew what he was thinking. Now I know it was one of those "Bless your little heart smiles, but here let me help you smiles." Danny has fought a long a hard battle and I just hope if I am ever faced with the same kind of battle I have the same amount of strength and courage to fight it as he showed. I know he will be missed by everyone who's lives he touched.

Love,
Lori
