“Ma, you were an inspiration to all who ever met you. Your flawless view of people, finding something positive in each day, being a culinary expert of all southern food found in nature or in the store, recycling before the word was ever made public, your love of nature, love for God, country and family, love for others, and giving tender care to those who needed a caregiver, being a child care expert, and giving unconditional love to all of us were just a few of the character traits I admired in you. Your kitchen table was always overflowing with left overs on the stove for us to graze on as we came in and out. It is you who is now reading the Bible to little children in heaven, singing praise songs with the saints and being allowed to dance on all the sugar you want to put on the bricks of gold!!!! Heaven has gained another wonderful saint. Being reunited with "June" and your "Mammy as Pa called her" brought sunshine to our day here on earth. Tell Mama and Daddy and yes, Pa and Bonnie, I love them and think of them more times than I can count. Thanks for the memories, the stories and sharing with us about your life as a child that I have to always hold you deep within my heart. I love you Ma and I am celebrating and praising God for your homecoming. Nancy
