“ hey,its been a while since ive came on here and wrote.i still miss you,more and more every single day.i wish i could tell you that i forgave you and that i still have hope for you,for you was the only hope i had.and know what do i hope for?another day to wake up,another tear to drop,another prayer to wish i had you back.momma just shine your light on me and let me get through it i wish more than anything to hold your hand again.to tell you i love n miss you to tell you how pretty you looked i want all of that i want a mother.and theirs nothing i can do to have you back why did you have to leave i could have helped you why didn't you tell me you needed me.i cant even talk to you and that hurts i have to come on here and write this big thing that you will never see.or go to a tumbstone and talk to it like your standing there listening and trying to imagine what you would say back.and that hurts.but its not your fault but when you told me to never give up...i wish u could've taken your advise because now im motherless and in a deep pain.but i love you and your happy i just wish i could be too.

“ Talia, I'll always remember how beautiful you were. I'll always remember how grumpy you were in the mornings! Lol! But more than any of that, I'll always remember how you opened up to me and helped me out last year when I was at my lowest point. You always told me to please call my family and go home...to get out of the lifestyle I was living, a lifestyle that you yourself were entangled in...you told me that I had too much potential to just throw it away. Well, Chula, I took your advice...I am now 7 months and 4 days clean! I am healthy and happy...as I know you yourself are now. I just wish you could have listened to everything you always told me during those nights when you were trying to convince me to live a better life. I guess we both are finally at peace...I really wish you had found your peace here. Goodbye, Talia. Thank you. For seeing the best in me when I couldn't. Thank you.
