“ Mrs. Hunter was so kind and caring with me when I visited her home. She and I were able to have discussions about topics that I have discussed with very few people...like religion. She never questioned any belief that I expressed even if it were far different than hers. We shared books and I think she knows that the book entitled THE SHACK that she shared with me has come to mean so very much in my life and journey. Every time I see the book anywhere I think of her and her remark when I asked her if she was surprised to see God depicted in the book as a overweight black woman. She smiled at me and said "I believe God can be anything He wants to be. HE IS GOD." I still have to smile as I recall how she took a very controversial subject and made it so very simple and easy to accept. which is not always easy for me. I love her and am thankful she allowed me to share life with her. God Bless and Take care of All.
