“ My loving beautiful wife, you were my best friend ever in life and I thank Our Heavenly Father every day for the time He allowed us to have to share our lives as husband and wife. One day soon we will be together again for all eternity, where we will never be separated again. Peas and Carrots, sweetheart. Always and Forever, my wife. I love you with all my heart.

“ My condolences to the family of Cindy Atkins. I only knew Cindy for a few months but her warm smile, sweet giving heart and contagious sense of humor are what I will always remember. Cindy believed in our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ and is with Him right now. Praise God for a life that was lived in His service and for His people.

“ I remember the many days in Home Economics where Cindy, Penny West, Penny Gammon and I sat at a table and laughed, talked and had great times. Our food was not always the best but we had fun planning our menus and cooking the food. I kept up with Cindy and talked to her whenever I had the chance. I had just asked Mark and Karen about her a little over a week ago. I will miss Cindy. My sympathy and prayers go out to her family - especially Kyle and Tyler. Love you Cindy and thankful that you are no longer in pain. Blessed to call you my friend over the last 40 years.

“ Cindy always said that her greatest achievement were her sons, Kyle & Tyler. She was incredibly proud of them both. When she passed, many people were dismayed that she had passed on Mother's Day but I think it was fitting for her to leave this world on a day that was set aside to honor mothers. Mother's Day was her day and I think God specifically chose Mother's Day to take her Home.

Like her family and many of her friends, I'm mourning the loss of Cindy. She was one of my closest and dearest friends and I will miss her each and every day.

“ People say you can tell the character of a person from their actions, that you can tell what kind of parents a child has by his or her actions. In this case, it's true. Tyler's actions have shown him to be a man of compassion, courage, and integrity. These are traits he has inherited from his mom, Cindy, who loved her family. As a mom, I believe that all she wanted for her children was that they would be good, loving adults and that the world would be kind to them. I'm thankful she got to attend her son, Tyler's, wedding. In doing so, I hope she could see that he loved, was loved back, and could dedicate that love through marriage. At Tyler and John's wedding Cindy was soft spoken, gentle, and kind. These are characteristics she has passed on to her children and I see them reflected in Tyler.

Her passing has left a big, aching hole in everyone's hearts. I like to think that Angels have taken her in their arms and are helping her help her family in dealing with this loss, that she'll always be looking out for them. In looking at her picture, with her beautiful smile, I also believe that Heaven will be a grand adventure for her...one full of laughter and love. Teresa Fornoff
