“ Lee was the hardest worker I knew in high school. He was a David amongst goliaths on the football field and he always came out victorious. He was fearless. Laughed all the time and inspired me to be better. I am forever grateful for the time we shared together in this life.

“ We had so much fun living next door to each other in Granny Ruby's duplex. Riding the go cart, wrestling on the trampoline (now I realize you were trying to toughen me up and you definitely succeeded), pushing the trampoline up under the big tree in the back yard to see who could jump from the highest branch, which was always you. I always admired how fearless you were. I know you were in pain both physically and mentally. I thought of you and worried about you every single day, so I always made sure every time I saw you, to hug you tight and tell you I Love You. You always gave such great hugs, which I'm going to miss so very much. Until we meet again my dear Elliott Lee Owen I love you and you will be terribly missed. Praying for you Uncle Kenny. I love you.
