“ Dear Family of Gordon Dillingham,
It is with sadness in my heart that I write this note to you. I grew up with Gordon at Erwin High School in Asheville, NC. He was very well loved by all of the class of 1957. We thoroughly enjoyed listening to him play the piano and other musical instruments at our class reunions. Cherish the memories you made with him and talk about him often to keep his spirit alive in your hearts. He will be missed!

Much love in Christ,

“ Gordon,
We've been friends for over 20 years. You were the reason I got my first artist gig in Nashville! What I'm going to miss about you the most are your stories, your kindness, and most of all your laugh. Keep me a seat in the band in Heaven cause I know you're singing and playing right now. Don't be playing too many of those Jerry Lee licks up there till I get there! I love you my dear friend.

“ I first met Gordon in the late 1970s at Mama's Country Showcase in Atlanta, where he had an excellent country band. He was a fine song writer and singer, and darned good piano man. He was always ready to help a new person trying to navigate demands of the music business. His wonderful sense of humor came through in his songs, such as "A Fool and His Money Will Soon Party" - a song some new artists should record today. Gordon, as folks have said, always had a sunny disposition and was generous to a fault. Above all, he was always a gentleman without fail. I was so sorry to hear of his passing and send love and condolence to his dear family. He was a good friend and I enjoyed the years we worked together after he moved to Nashville. - James Talley

“ Gordon was among the friendliest, kindest and most passionate men I have ever known. My greatest memories of him are rooted in the unconditional love that he demonstrated as a step-father to April and Melissa, and as a grandfather figure to my kids (Scooter and Abby). We will never forget his sense of humor, his laugh, and his infamous lean-over belch after eating (Lol). He will remain in our hearts forever.

“ I will always remember my cousin Gordon...his ready smile and warmth could fill a room! When I was young I remember him visiting Asheville and playing piano at my Aunt's home and he always made time for the cousins. I especially remember him visiting my Mom "Aunt Ocie" and attending her funeral. You will be missed cuz but you can sing in heaven! God bless and comfort the family.
