“ If I ever needed help with a project, Jack was a man I knew I could count on. He put others before himself and didn't expect any recognition for his actions. Thank you Jack for showing me what it means to be a true friend. I will see you again in the place where there are no more tears.

“ I loved Jack for many reasons. I see him as the nut tree man. Seems like nowadays the masses are planting so many new age tree varieties and hybrids from around the world. But Jack loved the great American "old forest" nut trees, so he planted loads of Shellbark Hickories (Kingnuts), American Chestnuts, Pecans, etc. I loved visiting him. He loved nature and worked hard to maintain a natural environment on his property. Jack was cool to observe and be around. Thanks Jack, for letting me bug you and visit you so much. smile. You were a good guy. Randy Allen
