“ I remember Jimmy very well from the years I served as Worship Leader for Grace Community Fellowship. He was humble, and yet a spiritual giant, always looking for ways to joyfully glorify Jesus. To this day, whenever I come across a scripture about people serving the Lord, I think of Jimmy. We visited the sick together, went to the prison together, prayed together, and shared many meals at church functions. I loved that brother, and can only imagine his joy at begin with the Lord now. It was an honor to have walked part of the narrow road with him.
