“ I am very saddened about Jo's passing. She treated my sisters and I like the daughters she never had. We loved to visit her in Tennessee and swim in her pool and marvel at her homes and lifestyle, so different from ours. She read us novels (I particularly remember Stephen King's, The Eye of the Dragon) and taught me how to give myself a manicure. She was such a free spirit. I am blessed that she was such an influence on me growing up. She will be missed.

“ Jo was such fun and often brightened my day when I worked at Our Lady of Lourdes in Springfield. She was so smart and loved to talk about Steve, all her wonderful family and horses. Our thoughts and prayers are with you. Peace, Kay and Hugh Braddock
