“ John was always the first face I saw everyday when I came into the office and was such a gentleman. We miss his smiling face!

“ I want to express my deepest sympathy for the loss of your Dad. He spoke often of his family and grandchildren. I will remember him as someone that always had the right story for the right situation. A truly fascinating and interesting individual. RIP my friend.

“ "Big John" used to come into my office around 7:30pm, we closed at 8. He would ask about my life and if I was lucky he would tell me about his. He told me about jumping out of airplanes and traveling Europe when he was in the military, about the time he met an Italian girl and cooked a southern breakfast of biscuits and gravy for her family in a villa in Italy, how he traded J&B whiskey from the Military PX to his landlord for rent. The brief time he owned a Porsche in Europe and how he crashed that car. We discussed books and debated politics. He told me stories about arresting crooks in the process of "breaking and entering" while working security. Most of all we laughed and laughed. One afternoon John heard me on the phone talking about needing to get a battery for my girlfriend's car, he met me at the office on his day off and got me into Sam's Club so I could get a discount on a new battery. He was always doing small favors like that for everyone in our office. I will miss you "Big John". I 'm happy you're in a better place now...

“ John will be missed dearly. He was a part of my daily life for the past 2.5 years at our place of employment. We shared laughter, smiles, tears and many life stories. He always was there to help with a smile on his face. He always lended an ear and a shoulder when I needed it. He was like a big brother in many ways. The Saturday before his passing we had brunch at my desk just talking about the years in the past of his life as well as mine. We truly got to know more about each other. The day of his passing my first thought was of his children and the BEST GRANDCHILDREN. He always spoke of them and loved them all dearly. I pray your family finds strenght through this sad time. Just remember that OUR John your Dad / Grandfather LOVED you all dearly. He will always be watching over you all. You all our in my prayers Teena
