“ I wish to extend my condolences. During this difficult time please know that as 1 Peter 57 says to throw our anxieties on God because he cares for you. Please be assured of his love and interest in you especially at this time.

“ A special Gift from God...Clay laquinta. Words cannot express the joy Clay brought to the lives of his family and friends. He made us feel special in so many ways. I remember one time after meeting for a family meal, as we left to go our separate ways, Clay hugged me and said, I love you. Of course we were family and loved each other; however, I was touched by the fact that he chose to say it. Yes, I felt special. Although Clay will not be with us physically, I know he will continue to influence our lives in a positive way. He will continue to be a special angel. God, thank You for Clay. Love, Lynda, Gene, and Ty

“ I only got to know Clay for a few months, but he was one of the most genuine people I've ever met and was so full of life. I have only met a handful of people with whom I knew I shared an understanding of so many things that didn't need any explanation, and I've met even fewer with whom I knew I could talk about anything. My heart is broken in his absence, and I am still telling myself that this is a bad dream. Frank and Cheryl, I'm so, so sorry. Clay shared your love of people so deeply, and even though he experienced more than his fair share of horror from others, I know he fought against those demons every day and still kept himself open and kind. You two have shown me and everyone else here so much kindness and graciousness, and I wish that I could take the pain you both must be feeling from you, or offer some kind of comfort, but I know that he is in the presence of God now and is at peace. We are all fortunate that we got to be with him, even for a short time. If there's anything at all that I or the rest of us can do for you, please let us know. We are all thinking about you and praying for you. RIP Clay. I miss you a lot, buddy. I will always carry you in my memory. Wes

“ Clay was a childhood friend of my son Rob. He was the sweetest kid with big blue eyes. He was a star baseball player, outdoorsman , and a sweet kid. He used to make us laugh with his pranks and funny stories during our camping hunting trips. We loved Clay very much and our hearts and prayers are with the laquinta family now and forever. Love, Bob, Stacey, and Rob Ferreira
