“ I have the best memories of Lee when I was a young person going to their home. He was so patient and very, very kind. I always remember the picture of him diving off this extremely high cliff and wondering how he did it. It appears he did a lot in life and I'm thankful for the service he gave his country. On a few occasions, I remember speaking our views about things in the Bible. He was brilliant in that area, among others and caused me to really think and consider. I will miss Lee but will never lose the love and memories I have for him, his wife and family.
