Growing up together was amazing. He got me stung by a wasp when I was 4 the. When we were older, around 12 he hit me stung by some honey bees. That boy that I love with all my being was always getting me hurt. Broke a bottle and threw it of course it stuck in my leg. But, I new he loved me because he always wanted to be a part of whatever I was doing. We had our children together also. He told me a few days back call him when I got home and he couldn't wait he was calling. What an amazing man he turned out to be. The love of his babies and their babies showed how he loved. I will always know you as my brother and you will be so missed. 💙
