“ The first time I met Lee was in 2007 when mutual friends set us up on a blind date... Very awkward for both of us, but he never failed to make me smile. Lee was the sweetest, most genuinely kind human being I have ever met. He never let a day go by without telling me I was beautiful and no matter the circumstance he made it known that he would do anything for me. He would have given the shirt off his back for anyone and always put himself last. He loved with all he had and I loved that about him. Every time I saw him he would always bring a little gift.. Flowers, candy, cards, sweet notes.. He even planted me a rose bush!! He loved my kids like they were his own and made sure they always had everything they wanted! I will never stop wondering why this had to happen to you but I do know that Heaven has gained an amazing angel and I know your parents were there waiting for you!! Lee, thank you for EVERYTHING!! You have always made me want to be the best me and I can't thank you enough. We love you and miss you more than you know!! You have made a permanent impression on our hearts. You will never be forgotten!!!

“ I'm so sorry to see you gone too soon. I remember when you dropped Sky on his head and you left because everyone told you I'd probably kill you. But you and your Mom came over to apologize and it struck me how much your mother loved you and I know how much you loved her. I wish for you peace. Hug Zachary for me when you see him. Love you Lee.

“ I am so sorry, Ashley. I didn't know Lee very well. I wasn't around him as an adult. But he was a cutie pie as a child. My prayers are with you and your family.

“ Played football with Lee and was a classmate from 6th grade on. My fondest memory with Lee was an intramural basketball game in 8th grade during ComingHome week. Our team was made up of all the big guys. Lee and I originally called the team Baumann's Biggens but the teachers didn't like it. So we ended up settling on the Doughboyz. Was a great time and a lot of fun. He will be missed dearly. -Myk #99

“ Lee was a gentle giant kind, compassionate and loving. Growing up he was the cutest little red headed boy with that mischievous look in his eyes. He loved his Dad, Sister Ashley, nieces Layla & Liesel but most of all he loved his Momma Patty as she did him. Lee will be truly missed.

“ Lee was a kind hearted soul. Of course he had shortcomings as we all do but he loved his sister and nieces very much.lee would do anything for his family and friends without complaining and we appreciated him for his kind heart. Aunt Patsy and Uncle Allan
