“ I am heartbroken. I met Rebecca as she was entering Reseda High. It was love at first sight. We became friends, but I was too shy then to pour my heart out. She loved Bowie and Ziggy Stardust when I still thought Bowie was too strange. Found her some years later and I confessed my feelings. She asked me why I didn't tell her "back then." I will forever ask myself the same thing. But things were meant to be as they are. My heart goes out to her son and family. I hope she is happy with Candace now. I will forever miss that face, those eyes, that smile, and that unforgettable voice.

“ I am so sorry to learn about Rebecca's passing. I thoroughly enjoyed our conversations whenever she would stop by our restaurant for lunch. Prayers go out to her son and grandchildren.
