“ I wish I could say that it is impossible for me to even imagine what the Herndon family is going through right now with the loss of Roger, but I do. When my father passed away before my senior year at Greenbrier High, it was generous and caring individuals like Roger's family that helped me through all the hardships. It is the support like this that sustain a community such as Greenbrier, and I've always been honored to say I grew up in one of the most dependable communities out there.

You never really realize what you had until it is gone and that is true. It wasn't until I faced the same hardship that I realized this life isn't always forgiving. I love you Roge and I hope your mother and brother and the rest of your entire family get through this dark time. Keep your head up. You're about to embark on the next life changing step in your young life and if I had to guess based on the talented and ever enduring team/classmate I had back in school, you're going to get through this just fine. I wish you and your family the best and like always, I'm here if you need to talk. I'll be in touch soon. I'm so sorry I could not make it to the funeral, but I had you in mind the entire day.

Sincerely, Jeffrey Brant
