“ I first met Scott when he and my daughter, Angie, were a freshman in high school at Erin. From that day until the last time I saw him, about 3 years ago, I never saw him without a big smile on his face. When we became friends on facebook, he always told me he would come down and take me for a ride on his motorcycle and he would laugh when I told him he would have to go sloooooow because "I'm OLD now" and he would assure me that I was NOT old and that made me laugh. Remember this Scott, when I get to heaven you can take me for a ride on your motorcycle and it will be on streets of pure gold. Love you so much.

Christine Muhlfeld - May 31, 2017 at 05:51 PM

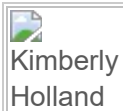

Will always remember Scott's smile when he would work for coke and come into walmart. However the thing I will remember most is the love in his eyes for his mother and children. Rest in peace Scott. Our Lord took you way to soon, but only He knows the reason. We always question why loved ones are taken too soon, but we just have to trust the Lord. Janice and the the rest of the family my heart is breaking for you. Prayers lifted up for all.

“Taken home too soon - yet, we don't make the plans. Those who knew Scott, knew of his infectious laugh, gentle soul, the lover of life, a father like no other, and so much more. There is now a void - that which will be hard to fill. Prayers for strength and comfort to his family - especially his children, Zach and Chloe, and his mother, Ms. Janice. Condolences don't begin to help. Just know many are walking with you all in spirit through the very difficult journey.

“ I am the mother to one of Chloe's good friends, Carley. Scott was one of a kind. The good die young. His smile and personality lit up a room. He was kind to all. One day, he and I were having a conversation about the unfinished room at my house and he said, "we" (meaning people in general) need to help each other. He was that kind of guy. He was always willing to help.

I know there is nothing we can say or do but, we want your family to know how precious you were to so many and we pray for peace and comfort for them.
