“ You are so missed Theresa. You were the best Granny that any child could ever have. I love you and miss you so much. It still seems so unreal.

“ You don't start out looking at the computer and expect to get stopped in your tracks by seeing that someone you have known most of your life has passed away....no....so you want to call someone to confirm if this is the right Threasa Whitehouse.....there is only one so you try to get over the shock and and then the tears fall for your friend.....she is really gone...
