“ Tony and I attended Livingston High School as classmates and friends for 4 years. When Tony came to Kentucky to visit we would go down to his home to visit and share old memories, laugh and just have a good time. He always joked about how my hair looked. After my husband passed away, Tony called often to check on me and my boys. He would tell one of his brothers to be sure and bring me the freebies that his church passed out and then Tony would call me to check on his brother to see if he brought the freebies to me! One day one of his brothers brought me a mess of poke because Tony had called from Tennessee and told him to. I sure will miss Tony and his friendship. Go rest high on that mountain, my friend.
