“ My heart breaks for her children and grandchildren. She was so proud of her family. Tracey and I are the same age, and met when we were in the second grade. Our parents married and we were sisters even after our parents separated in our early 20's. Tracey and her brother Todd are a huge part of my childhood memories. I have so many memories and stories flooding back these past couple of days. When we graduated high school I moved out of state and we both went our separate ways building our adult lives. We did not stay as close but we did get hold of each other when we had major events in life. And when we talked it was like we had just spoken yesterday. I have not spoken to Tracey on the phone in probably four years, and the last time I saw her was too long ago. We ran into each other at our kids orthodontist when our kids were teenagers, and her three were blowing the horn for her to hurry up; so we laughed it off, quickly hugged, and agreed to get together soon. It is so true how you never know when a quick moment in life becomes a cherished memory. Tracey had a good heart, and would do for others selflessly. I think she got that from her Mom. Peggy was a kind soul too. Tracey is missed dearly and my prayers are with her family.
